

Is using character.ai bad for the environment?

As the title says. I'm aware generative ai uses a large quantity of electricity to run its servers but does actually using the app cause any more harm than a normal app would?

No.

Turn the lights off when you leave the room, turn off the faucet while you're brushing instead of letting it flow, recycle what you can, take public transit when you have the option, get a reusable bag instead of infinite plastic ones.

Doing those 5 simple things every day/whenever possible will help the environment more than worrying about what apps you use.

Not really, especially when you know a single query from Google ai consumes a lot of energy, it raises genuine questions

So basically the tangible impact of using character.ai is negligible and the main issue is server side?
