

Does using chatgpt increase my electricity bill by more than if I were to use just Google?

Posted by u/vanillabons1331 • 0 points • 9 comments

I understand that ChatGPT uses a lot of energy. My question then is, does the usage of ChatGPT increase one's electricity bill by more than using Google would? Where does the energy that ChatGPT uses come from? Is it from the energy source powering my house and I pay for? I would like to know more. Thanks

Did you ever think of asking ChatGPT this question? I guarantee its response will be more helpful and more kind than reddit.

It uses more electricity at the data center where the software operates. Internally, your computer will never use more electricity than while playing a 3D video game. Other than that its your screen that drains the most power.

Does your phone drain as fast as my brain did typing this?

No, using ChatGPT will not increase your electricity bill in any noticeable way. The actual processing happens on OpenAI's servers, not on your device. Your computer or phone only sends and receives text, which uses very little power, similar to basic web browsing

It uses more electricity. It's terrible for the environment. Use Deepseek instead.
