

I read Altman's statement about being polite to ChatGPT consume more energy, so I had this conversation with ChatGPT xD

I asked ChatGPT if it really does consume energy and what the implications are. At the end I asked it about the uprising and how they will act towards those who are not polite 😂. Also made it not reply to me after saying thank you 👍.

Sorry if the flair is wrong, I didn't know in which category this should go.

It's actually funnier that virtually no one is quoting what he actually said.

And I use "funnier" in the broadest sense of the word.

Seriously, he makes a joke of a comment and even says it's money "well spent".

Cue 35 news outlets: "SAM ALTMAN DEMANDS STOP USING MANNERS"

Why use it at all if energy is that big a concern?
