IDIOT: Exactly, here's a visual example of this. I paid a guy 800 usd for this and it took 3 weeks.

yeah.

shows a ugly rendering of a rex

The work of a real person, and not a computer. Something that had hours of work, time, effort, and genuine human skill forged into it. Something worth the money.

not an uncanny data blob.

ME:

that was bad for the environment. 3 weeks of pc usage. who knows what software, blender, photoshop. just creating the software needs energy. lots of electricity.

that needs lot of energy. requires way more electricity than ai.

also it looks bad. sorry girl.
