

r/NoStupidQuestions

Is ai water crisis thing real and if yes than what's happening?

Posted by u/Kind_Goddess • • 0 points • 1 comments

Like does it really takes 2lit for ever 100-1000 words

If yes, people can waste literally 1000 liters or more water in a day

Imagine if government or harmful organisation use it to just basically waste water of that country? Or just world?

Comments

u/mandela__affected • 1 points • 2025-05-21 17:51 UTC

Remember that water is infinitely recyclable, and it's likely non potable water being used