

r/DefendingAIArt

The whole "Ai uses Electricity argument"

Posted by u/aRobotfromNaples • 0 points • 4 comments

Why do these environmentalist hone in on ai using up electricity only?

Why not the electricity of running a cigarette factory or hosting a porn site or all the lights a giant casino uses?

Comments

u/Fungous_Effluvium • 1 points • 2025-07-02 13:14 UTC

Same as the anti-crypto "environmentalist" hypocrisy: sour grapes and readymade current thing ego-inflation for nerds who need to get pulled around by rings in their noses to justify or make sense of anything.

u/StrangeCrunchy1 • 2 points • 2025-07-02 12:39 UTC

It's literally because AI is the "enemy" right now. If cigarettes were the issue du jour, it'd be cigarettes are using electricity

u/PomeloNo4872 • 3 points • 2025-07-02 12:24 UTC

It's because they don't really care. They'll just grasp at whatever straws they can reach.

u/Katwazere • 7 points • 2025-07-02 12:20 UTC

Because they ain't environmentalists, they are just luddites. They conveniently ignore all the good ai does while whining on their smartphones in a air-conditioned house and drive a 2 ton car that guzzles fuel