AI Energy Usage: 2024 United States Data Center Energy Usage Report

I'm not sure if this has been linked here, but this report published in December of 2024 shows the power and water usage of AI data centers.

It's appalling. There are people out there without electricity or water because of a nearby data center. Yes, water comes back eventually, but not always where it came from!

There are people living out there that only get a limited amount of time with electricity due to the sheer amount of power these AI processors need. All for something we could live without.
