Artist like to criticise ai creators or people that use ai cause its “bad for the environment and it steals job” but do NOT blame the greedy corporations that keep on making these crazy choices so they make more money by hiring less people.

Artist also use similar artstyles from other artist but call that “inspiration” or “inspired” but if a ai does the same and trying to learn Its considered Stolen?

And the last Bullshit excuse they have is: “oh its very bad for the environment we have to stop it!” But they never said this years ago or even decades ago. Its funny that artist will make up stupid arguments and comments on ai and how its damaging the world when in reality there are far worse things on the planet that do more harm then ai.

Artist are also more likely to be toxic and rude then ai creators, i seen artist be more hateful to something so technological advanced for no reason and also the fact they will hate and send threats to anybody for even using ai for something so small. Its fucking pathetic. Im mostly centrist about both however the more hateful anti AI ppl will be the more i will be leaning on the AI side.

We shouldn't hate on something we have come so far in. Yes we shouldn't rely on machines for our daily lives in the future but there is no reason to send death threats to someone who used ai for fun.

This is just my stance on this entire war bs, but thats all do not blame the creation but the creator.

Environmental arguments are a nothing burger.

If they were that committed to the environmental impact, they'd never fly away on holiday again or use a car, or use a website/app that uses datacentres ever again.

Just another scape goat to find something to blame it for.
