

India's Water Stress due to AI Data Centers to Worsen

Posted by u/ranaji55 • 0 points • 29 comments

India's AI data centers feared to worsen host community water stress

"Earlier, we could find water at around 30 meters."

"Last year, we had to deepen our borewell to nearly 180 meters. In some parts of the village, it has gone beyond 250 meters."

[<https://asia.nikkei.com/business/technology/artificial-intelligence/india-s-ai-data-centers-feared-to-worsen-host-community-water-stress>]

(<https://asia.nikkei.com/business/technology/artificial-intelligence/india-s-ai-data-centers-feared-to-worsen-host-community-water-stress>)

Comments

u/Rare_Presence_1903 • 1 points • 2026-01-02 09:09 UTC

You should see what Netflix does to Indian water

u/No_Training_6988 • 1 points • 2026-01-02 06:26 UTC

This is a real concern. AI data centers need insane amounts of water for cooling, and villages already struggle. If borewells are going from 30 meters to 200+ meters, something's clearly wrong. Tech growth is good, but not at the cost of basic water access for locals.

u/kiwinoob99 • 1 points • 2026-01-01 23:15 UTC

This is a fear mongering article. India's water problems are caused by its agriculture policy, the government subsidizing water hungry crops like rice and wheat , leading to farmers drilling the land for water and pumping it out. That's why the article points out the drip in the water table, data centres have nothing to do with that u/69odysseus • 1 points • 2026-01-01 20:48 UTC

If the local Indian community does not realize the bad affects of these DC's early enough, every community around them will face massive challenges and hard to even breath there.

Indian govt really need to establish governing rules for these corporate companies or they'll take advantage of the nation.

u/albanian_rozzer • 1 points • 2026-01-01 08:01 UTC

!gif

u/exaknight21 • 1 points • 2026-01-01 07:00 UTC

They should put all AI data centers into the ocean. Its only logical.

u/Ragnarok-9999 • 2 points • 2025-12-31 20:53 UTC

Indian govt put regulation to force all data centers to be located near a sea shore, desalinate sea water and use it. And also they should generate power on site and use it.

USA is learning evils of data center slowly. Learn from them and get wise

u/Avacado7145 • -2 points • 2025-12-31 20:03 UTC

Drink water or ask AI a stupid question. Tough decision..