

C.ai water usage

Guys, girls and others, what do you think about water usage by generative AI such as c.ai? I have been using c.ai for years now, but lately I've been feeling kinda guilty about it because of the environment issues involving water usage by generative AIs, do you feel the same way? What are your opinions? (Image purely illustrative, lol)

Sooo I use c.ai and I have since I was 16. (I'm 19 now going on 20 soon) so I've been using it for a very long time. But recently with all the ai slop that's come out on TikTok + everything with the polar bears. I've been finding myself feeling incredibly guilty about using c.ai at all. I often see people spreading awareness about aIs water usage and many commenters always say "this includes c.ai" but personally I've been using it for so long I don't really know how to stop and I've tried. But I feel so damn guilty for using it now that I'm informed.

I relate so badly and I wished they found sustainable ways to power the ai instead :(
