

r/antiai

I'm against AI but can we please stop spreading misinformation about it's impact on the environment.

Posted by u/tj44qtv • • 0 points • 64 comments

I am generally against AI from a human standpoint, but I keep seeing people online jerk each other off by saying how they stopped using AI to help the environment, while ignoring the actual impactful things you can do like eat less meat etc. It also trivializes the climate change issue as something that can be fixed if "you just don't use AI". Sorry had to make a quick rant there.

Comments