

"AI is better for you and the environment!" they say

Posted by u/Alone-Seesaw-9575 • • 0 points • 12 comments

I'm getting literal withdrawals from Character.AI. That shouldn't be happening to something you say will help the world and humanity, right?

Comments

u/thatoneflameyguy • 2 points • 2026-01-25 10:55 UTC

I'm sorry, who the heck is saying that AI actually HELPS the environment? Even a pro would be able to tell that such reasoning is either ragebait or just horrible misinformation, how do you even come to the logical conclusion that a giant monolith of metal and electricity that actively dumps toxic water into the environment is actually helpful to the environment? Like, even a person that knows absolutely nothing about AI knows that databases can't possibly clean the environment, like come on what kind of BS copius reasoning is that lmao

u/Alone-Seesaw-9575 • 1 points • 2026-01-25 12:10 UTC

Yeah I have seen people say that. They make their precious images that say stuff like "we don't destroy animals habitats (implying that paper and pencils are made of wood and we don't replant those trees) AI is better!" Like suuuure buddy suuurrrree.

u/thatoneflameyguy • 2 points • 2026-01-25 12:12 UTC

Yeah, that seems like the most obvious ragebait ever. Especially if it's an AI generated catgirl. I wouldn't interact with those posts if i were you, that's what they want you to do.

u/Alone-Seesaw-9575 • 1 points • 2026-01-25 12:15 UTC

I haven't yet interacted with them yet, but thank you for the advice anyway :) .

u/HerrMeier1980 • 1 points • 2026-01-24 21:24 UTC

You're right, we don't need water /s u/justnatsuki404 • 3 points • 2026-01-24 15:50 UTC

tenna based

u/BotherOk3007 • 3 points • 2026-01-24 11:21 UTC

thx tenna

u/Warm_Chezz_8 • 0 points • 2026-01-24 05:46 UTC

https://preview.redd.it/i3b5xybwj8fg1.jpeg?

width=1080&format=pjpg&auto=webp&s=e919b3a8a2571d6ac3f387dcc0aacddb129dab24

u/Early-Dentist3782 • 1 points • 2026-01-29 18:11 UTC

What the fuck

u/Robosuccubus3000 • 3 points • 2026-01-23 23:57 UTC

MFs don't know trees are a renewable resource.

u/agent_rain_327 • 4 points • 2026-01-23 23:37 UTC

I actually think they're just trolling at this point you can't tell me there's perfect THIS STUPID IN THE WORLD maybe the knight was right Kris give me my knife I'm causing the roaring early

u/JazzyShaman • 6 points • 2026-01-23 23:22 UTC

I'd be curious if this is actual withdrawal. As in the clinical meaning of the word.

u/No-Tip-7471 • 2 points • 2026-01-24 09:05 UTC

Ig it could be used in a metaphorical sense (to be pendatic, you shouldn't really be saying "literal withdrawals" in that case, but whatever) that you have a withdrawal if you are addicted to something -> stop -> get mental health effects from the change

u/ozzieiscooo • 5 points • 2026-01-23 23:47 UTC

People as get addicted to and get withdrawal from gambling

u/Alone-Seesaw-9575 • 5 points • 2026-01-23 23:32 UTC

Yeah, I'm probably not using the word right, and forgive me if I am.

u/AttemptNo2725456 • 8 points • 2026-01-23 23:04 UTC

I'm very fascinated with addiction for some reason. I totally get how you could get withdrawals from something you were used to. I rem seeing a friend buy coke with their rent money, knowing full well this would short them. Then be all in shock a few days later when they are short rent money. Felt bad for him and bailed him out as a 1x favour, but fascinated with the drive to knowingly put oneself in such a risky situation or keep going back to something you know is harmful to u

u/JazzyShaman • 6 points • 2026-01-23 23:21 UTC

You're addicted to addiction.