

r/aiwars

How do they say AI is a bubble but also it's going to deplete the world of water and have long term effects

Posted by u/imalonexc • 0 points • 14 comments

Are they just different people? Like half of antis think it's a bubble and the other half know it will be around forever. But then why be Anti anything that you think is a bubble

Comments

u/AppropriatePapaya165 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:47 UTC

> but then why be anti anything you think is a bubble

Because bubbles are bad, and do damage to the economy?

This is my first time reading a “pro economic bubble” take.

u/Mobile_Visit4356 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:10 UTC

Yeah why were people against the housing market bubble? It had no negative impact when it popped /s u/DaveG28 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 16:33 UTC

Careful, according to ops argument because there was a housing bubble that means when it popped there were no more houses.

You know, just like the Internet that dissapeared after the dot com crash.

u/Mobile_Visit4356 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 16:35 UTC

Yeah I feel like neither side actually understands what a bubble is and what it means for the industry

u/ObviNotMyMainAcc • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:01 UTC

Well obviously you need all that water in order to blow the bubble. Did you never have a bath as a child?

u/awesomemusicstudio • 2 points • 2026-02-19 12:34 UTC

Well, they also say they're not hypocrites for using Reddit, which fuels AI training more than any other social media platform on the planet, because their individual usage is insignificant compared to the vast majority of training data that exists. Then at the same time they say training from art sources is theft :P

u/Clankerbot9000 • 3 points • 2026-02-19 13:04 UTC

Their 'counterpoint' for this is literally posting we live in a society memes like Reddit is an essential part of life.

Its actually hilarious

u/awesomemusicstudio • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:14 UTC

Ya, agreed :) If Reddit is essential to their activism, and AI partnerships are fueling Reddit's growth, then AI is essential to keeping their platform alive. Q.E.D.

u/No-Dog5248 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:02 UTC

This is really an interesting comment as reddit according to the rise of AI is considered one of the ideal places for training.

u/awesomemusicstudio • 1 points • 2026-02-19 13:16 UTC

Yes, exactly, but it's not 'one of.' It IS, by far, the largest and most heavily weighted source on the planet.

u/No-Opportunity5353 • 4 points • 2026-02-19 12:32 UTC

Because they think "bubble" means it's going to just pop out of existence one day because antis are children.

u/Deltaruneiscool_1997 • 1 points • 2026-02-19 12:26 UTC

Ai is a gun if you dont pull the trigger a bullet wont escape at full speed but if you pull the trigger a bullet will fire

u/Such_Confusion_3715 • 2 points • 2026-02-19 12:24 UTC

in an economic sense, it's not really a bubble currently, and it's pretty hard to tell at this point in time

u/Latimas • 1 points • 2026-02-19 12:24 UTC

Fear VS Hope