

r/antiai

College student here, I'm writing a paper on the environmental impact of AI. Looking for anyone living near a datacenter to get a short zoom interview with. Message me if you're interested!

Posted by u/No-Marketing-8200 • 0 points • 2 comments

If you're not comfortable with a video call interview a non-video call or text based interview would work as well.

Comments

u/Spiritual_Weather7 • 1 points • 2026-03-11 12:12 UTC

Watch the latest Benn Jordan video about datacenters, "Datacenters Behaving Like Acoustic Weapons", hes a cool guy, probably even would help you if you contact him...

u/Nickisinfinite • 2 points • 2026-03-11 11:56 UTC

You'd be better to talk to someone who works in energy who can speak for the year over year increase in consumption, which causes the energy provider to impact the environment- fun fact, AI actually stopped the decommissioning of coal plants around the country due to the increased demand - it's only recently that Datacenters are starting to actually.

There are videos of the Nat Gas turbines at xAI and tons of reports of health issues