I've noticed a decent amount of LLMs don't even require a account to use, if consuming large amounts of processing power and therefore electricity costs them money, couldn't you just make a script that repeatedly prompts the AI with the same maximally processing power requiring option. \[tons of context character limit hit etc\]

Just random ideas passing through ma head...

Note this is a repost as reddit filtered the original post i assume the filters use a AI *Sighs.

Yes you can do this, it just doesn't make any difference. Power users are burning tens of thousands of dollars a month on compute they aren't paying for and the providers are just taking it in stride. When it becomes a problem they aren't willing to allow they'll just stop it
