

My girlfriend is mad at me for using 3D modeling generation AI tools saying I don't care about the environment. Am I a terrible person for indulging in these tools?

Posted by u/lulusama3 • 0 points • 1 comments

I was using TRIPO AI since I happened to have it for a month I was just trying it out to see its capabilities. She's concerned about water and electricity consumption from using AI in general. I have concerns about things like data centers increasing electricity demand and therefore driving up prices for everyone else but not so much about the immediate effects of me as a consumer using AI.

Comments

u/NoStupidQuestionsBot • 1 points • 2026-03-25 22:44 UTC

Thanks for your submission /u/lulusama3, but it has been removed for the following reason:

Disallowed question area: Rant or loaded question

NoStupidQuestions is a place to ask any question as long as it's asked in good faith. Our users routinely report questions that they feel violate this rule to us. Want to avoid your question being seen as a bad faith question? Common mistakes include (but are not limited to):

* Rants: Could your question be answered with "That's awful" or "What an asshole"? Then it's probably a rant rather than a genuine question. Looking for a place to vent on Reddit? Try /r/TrueOffMyChest or /r/Rant instead.

* Loaded questions: Could your question be answered with "You're right"? Answering the question yourself, explaining your reasoning for your opinion, or making sweeping assumptions about the question itself all signals that you may not be keeping an open mind. Want to know why people have a different opinion than you? Try /r/ExplainBothSides instead!

* Arguments: Arguing or sealioning with people giving you answers tells everyone that you have an answer in mind already. Want a good debate? Try /r/ChangeMyView instead!

* Pot Stirring: Did you bring up unnecessary topics in your question? Especially when a topic has to do with already controversial issues like politics, race, gender or sex, this can be seen as trying to score points against the Other Side - and that makes people defensive, which leads to arguments. Questions like "If _____ is allowed, why isn't _____?" don't need to have that comparison - just ask "why isn't _____ allowed?".

 Complaining about moderation: If you disagree with how the sub is run or a decision the mods have made, that's fine! But please share your thoughts with us in modmail rather than as a public post.

Disagree with the mods? If you believe you asked your question in good faith, try rewording it or message the mods to see if there's a way you could ask more neutrally. Thanks for your understanding!

This action was performed by a bot at the explicit direction of a human. This was not an automated action, but a conscious decision by a sapient life form charged with moderating this sub.

If you feel this was in error, or need more clarification, please don't hesitate to message the moderators. Thanks.